MISSION NEWS

The latest news from Josh Wood serving as an intern for Engineering Ministries International (EMI) in Senegal.

Josh has recently been on a trip to Ghana to look at and help with the technical side of hospitals and especially testing the water. He learnt more about their culture and saw the similarities between Ghana, Senegal and the UK. He appreciated being able to speak English with the folk there. However, he does say that he realizes how important it is to be able to communicate with people in their own language. He quotes Nelson Mandela "If you talk to a man in the language he understands, that goes to his head. If you talk to him in his language, that goes to his heart".

He is thankful to God who has helped him be more connected with a church in Senegal. It has been great to get to know people and worship together and to go to the midweek Bible Study. He is thankful that there is often someone to translate for him.

He asked for prayer that God will direct his future plans and help him to remember that he is a child of God safe and secure and that Heaven is his home.

Lighter moments: He found a fast-food shop called "Le Bristol" in Ghana - six countries and the Sahara Desert due south of our Bristol!!! He has broken his cereal fast and thinks it is time to get a haircut!
